

SHAHV 2017 Fall Conference

Understanding Language Based Learning Disabilities and Making Effective Change Through An Apprenticeship Model

Presented by: Melissa Spring M.S. CCC-SLP

Date: Saturday October 28, 2017

Time: 8:30 am - 4:00 pm

Where: Holiday Inn Middletown
68 Crystal Run Road
Middletown, NY 10941

Course Description:

This workshop will focus on developing a deeper understanding of school-aged children with LLD so that more effective treatment plans can be developed. Participants will learn how the role of memory, dynamic thinking, and use of an apprenticeship model can create more meaningful positive cognitive change.

Presenter: Melissa Spring, M.S. CCC-SLP, Professor at The College of Saint Rose

Melissa Spring is a clinical supervisor and instructor in the Communication Sciences and Disorders program at the College of Saint Rose. Melissa received her Bachelor's Degree in speech-language pathology from Loyola College in Maryland and her Master's degree in speech-language pathology from Gallaudet University in Washington DC. Her clinical and academic interests include hearing loss, language-based learning disabilities, and executive function. Melissa has taught a variety of courses at the College of Saint Rose but is currently teaching Language and Hearing, Clinical Methods and Clinical Seminar.

Course Objectives and Learner Outcomes

At the end of the workshop, participants will be able to:

- Determine whether a student presents with a language based learning disability when given assessment data and a learning profile
- Name at least 3 barriers to school success for students with LLD
- Explain the role of memory in the therapeutic process for students with LLD
- List 3 characteristics of an apprenticeship relationship and will be able to describe how those characteristics are helpful to students with LLD.
